

this stop is needed because application may crash or won't call ioctl stop and hw would be running even if no writer is running